"In the days before modern harbors, a ship had to wait for the flood tide before it could make it to port. The term for this situation in Latin was 'ob porta'; that is, a ship standing over against a port, waiting for the moment when it could ride the turn of the tide to harbor.

The English word 'opportunity' is derived from this original meaning. The captain and the crew were ready and waiting for that one moment, for they knew that if they missed it, they would have to wait for another tide to come in. Shakespeare turned the background of the exact meaning of opportunity into one of his famous passages:

'There is a tide in the affairs
Of men,
Which, taken at the flood, leads
On to fortune; Omitted, all
The voyage of their life
Is bound in shallows and
In miseries.
On such a full sea are we
Now afloat;
And we must take the
Current when it serves,
Or lose our ventures.'

"This is not just a 'now' ministry; it is an 'eternity' ministry."

Dr. Victor Paul Wierwille

"If I'm living the mystery, I won't look at personalities. I'll look at the Christ within the personality."

Tricia Bosko, Seventh Corps

"Business before pleasure and neither before God."

"Longsuffering is patience--learning to put up with each other; and it doesn't have to be suffering unless you make it so."

Nik Maxson, Fifth Corps

"Commitment of a slave,
Meekness of a child.
Mystery living is mystery giving.
Knowing that God is working
And willing
To do of His good pleasure."

Kevin Buckingham, Seventh Corps

THE COURAGE NOT TO FLEE

"I'd rather be a slave
Shackled by my slavery
Than flee my post of duty
When life demanded bravery
I'd rather venture not
Than withdraw half discouraged
From life's great battlefield
Convinced I lacked true courage
I'd sooner die ten deaths
At hands of foes empowered
Rather than live for years
Convinced I was a coward."

"Let's reign as a body walking in the obedience of faith; and that will never happen if leadership doesn't walk in accordance with Timothy and Titus."

Rev. L. Craig Martindale

"A man who makes use of his hands and his mind and his heart is an artist."

Howard Allen

"Weak is he who permits his thoughts to control his actions; strong is he who forces his actions to control his thoughts.

Action, alone, is the tinder which ignites my goals into a living force."

Ken Sudduth, Seventh Corps

"A lot of people use the word 'pro' carelessly...To determine if someone's a real pro, you must see the conditions under which he's working. Take a concert artist. He comes to a performance well rested. The acoustics and lighting are first-rate. He's had a good flight to the city where he is performing. There is nothing in his personal life interfering with his concentration. So he gives a good performance. But how good will he be when he has eaten bad restaurant food, been on an airplane all night, had personal problems weighing on him, gotten a bad hotel room? If he can perform under these circumstances, he's a pro."

Danny Kaye

"...I firmly believe that any man's finest hour--his greatest fulfillment to all he holds dear--is that moment when he has worked his heart out in a good cause and lies exhausted on the field of battle--victorious."

Vince Lombardi

"The truth is believed because it is the truth."
