"When you walk in the love of God in the renewed mind in manifestation, you won't have to ask for anything"

DR. Victor Paul Wierwille

THE WORD AT WORK

"There is always a way. No matter how impossible the situation may seem, with God in Christ in you, there is always a way.

You can walk by the renewed mind logic that you have learned from the Word. Sometimes it's hard to separate from Word of Knowledge, Word of Wisdom, but just keep walking by what you know logically and if God wants you to do differently, He'll make it clear.

We're involved in life. You don't have to ask every minute 'Should I move here?' You're supposed to be a co-laborer with God; don't make Him do all the work."

Rev. Craig Martindale

Leadership in Thought

"If you can see it, do it. Or you'll always wonder if you should have. The reason something enters your mind to speak is because that's the perfect time for it. Your responsibility is to speak until the well runs dry. God will tell you small things to do if you're the kind of person who will obey.

"It's important to learn the skills that go with your profession, so we don't have to put six people on a job that two could do. Learn the little things that could add to your job.

"If we waited to fully understand something before we spoke it, we'd be mutes. The Word is more than printed words on a page. It has a depth of experience behind it which we cannot completely describe in words. Our inability to explain it is a majestic lack.

"You know, we're still trying to build good Twig leaders in the Corps. If you can run a Twig, you can run anything."
Rev. Craig Martindale

CORPS WISDOM

"The Way Ministry is still the only place I've seen where people are trying to live love. I sometimes think that what we call shortcomings are really spiritual growing pains.

"When I say 'reach up into Daddy's cookie jar' it's basically a matter of getting the cookie that He has.

"Your body, soul, and spirit all have to line up. It's very important to get to know your body and what it needs to operate the best. That's part of what the Corps is about."
Dr. Victor Paul Wierwille

"Commitment is not like climbing up a craggy mountain with a ball and chain around your ankles, trying to reach 'commitment ridge'. It's not like that. It's simple; it's saying, 'Yes, I'd love to!'"

"It is one single commitment to love God with all your heart, soul, mind and strength and to love thy neighbor as thyself. Our life is the fulfillment of one aspect of that one commitment.

"Ain't nothin' to it but to do it!"

"Do the work and fulfill the commitment. The understanding comes later and your thoughts are established
Rev. Lonnell Johnson

"Any act of love is more powerful than hate.

"There is no past to be regretted; there is no future to be feared.

"The mind is the door-keeper to your heart.

"Your thoughts are the seeds for words and deeds."
Rev. Bo Reahard

— Heartbeat from Headquarters —

"Once you lose sight of the mystery, you can't see the family anymore.

"If you lose sight of the hope, you have no power inside. What good is dynamite if you have no match?"

"In every situation, we should be either learning or teaching."
Rev. Walter Cummins

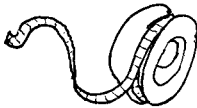

"You can control your thinking and make anything out of any situation. You must deliberately and willfully control your mind."
Rev. Randy Feese

"In the light of God; who is light
Our path is clear before us
We can be closer to Him than we are
To our next breath...
We need not stumble over obstacles set in our way
Nor even acknowledge them
For they belong to darkness
And darkness has no place in light...

In the light of God; who is light
Our path is clear before us
We can walk together hand in hand
And truly see...
Looking not at each other
But ahead in the same direction
Not only seeing the light
But being able to reflect its holy glory..."
Sherry Marcus, Seventh Corps

"It is impossible to be negative and be thankful;
likewise it is impossible to be positive and be ungrate-
ful. If you want to think positively, get thankful."
Kini Kay, College Division
