

...from the parents at the farm

"I'm seeing growth in the working supervisors. They've learned that kids are people." Ray Weidenhamer

"The garden dept. is being blessed in a wonderful way. How? By having the Mini Corps there each day. As they are helping us with the work, they are growing in the knowledge of the wonders of God's creation and should be able to cope with life ahead." Ira Hearne

"No matter what our age, we are all children in the family of God. For the Mini Corps, they are learning this everyday at the Kipp Farm. The farm supplies the food and great instruction for the children. They appreciate the corn and the meat much more because they are feeding the cows and weeding the corn. The physical and the spiritual go hand in hand; as we labor, God gives the increase." Jim Wahl

"I'm learning you can't separate your life from the Word. Out here on the farm you learn a lot about life. I have four children and have never seen afterbirth. These kids have seen it at seven. It wasn't until this year that I knew about the sex life of the vegetables. These kids could teach the adults about it. These children can work as hard as any adult. We're all learning to live." Teaching Techniques of Jesus Christ

1. He used nature
2. What he observed, he retained and used when teaching
3. He taught on the go
4. His examples were from life
5. He taught from the concrete to the abstract
6. A big key was to get by himself and talk to God
7. He taught that prayer was a necessity
8. The art of awakening and holding their interests
9. After he got their attention, he kept it
10. He taught plainly
11. He asked pointed questions
12. He said startling statements
13. He had full command of his subject
14. He capitalized on the events of the hour
15. He saw deep-rooted needs in his people
16. He used object lessons
17. He used questions and answers to make questions plain
18. He operated revelation manifestations
19. He asked questions with a purpose
20. He used the art of repetition
21. He obeyed God's voice

Teaching Techniques

"What did Jesus put into his words that made them so powerful? Living, loving and believing; He believed in the thing he was selling."

"400 years without the Word had left Israel sick and miserable. They wanted to be rid of their oppressions. BUT, Christ taught them the Word first, and then he healed them."

"Christ's incidents were all based on life. Don't build the Word on your experiences. Use the Word's incidents for your teachings."

"Don't ever think that you shouldn't teach something over and over. You're cutting their throats if you don't."

"Thursday night's teaching especially blessed me. 'The more I understand about no condemnation the less desire I have to sin.' Jean Giles

"Develop your ability to be specific."
Bill Maize

"You are not in a situation of criticism, you are in a situation of learning."
Bill Maize

Corps objective #1 is a harmonious balance between the knowledge of the Word of God and a walk by the spirit."

Kip Holdren

"We have the guts and love to help one another." Kip Holdren

"What is the Way Corps? It's a challenge to discipline to learn to love."

Buddy Rix

"The whole purpose for the Way Corps is LIFE."

Becki Belcher

"That material (Word taught to the Corps) is set forth for the faithful."

Andy Zitelli

"No matter where you're going, or how many places you have to get to, you've got to take time to love people along the way." Teesh McCarthy

"The nature of the human body is greater than the Devil."

Dr. Wierwille

"You are shooting too low! The governor needs it. The attorney general needs it. Go tell them 'Thus saith the Lord', or else they will die."

Dr. Wierwille

Advanced Class

"It's always easier to do something yourself than to teach someone else to do it as well as you."

Dr. Wierwille

"People who will not pay attention to detail will never be versatile with the Word. Unless you take care of detail in life, you'll never take care of detail in the Word."

Dr. Wierwille

"Make the Word your own and then be yourself."

Craig Martindale

"Those rivers of understanding flow to and from quiet seas."

Craig Martindale

Excerpts from the Mini Corps about the work at the Kipp Farm and fellowships.

Children Working at the Kipp Farm

"The neatest thing was the day Kristin and I caught a freshly laid, double-yoked egg in our hands. It was hot!"
Sharlene Lynch.

"I found a Cicadi bug and Ray taught all the kids about the bug and what it's good for. It spends 4-20 years in the ground, then comes out of its shell to brood and lives about a week. That was fun!"
Roy Jordan

"I found the new-born Nanny goat one morning while I was feeding the animals; that was neat! We voted on the animal's name: Annabelle."
Jeff Weidenhamer

"I'm learning to paint. There's lots of tricks to it."
Doug Borroughs

"What I like is you get to do things here you hardly ever get to do."
Kirk Stegmeyer

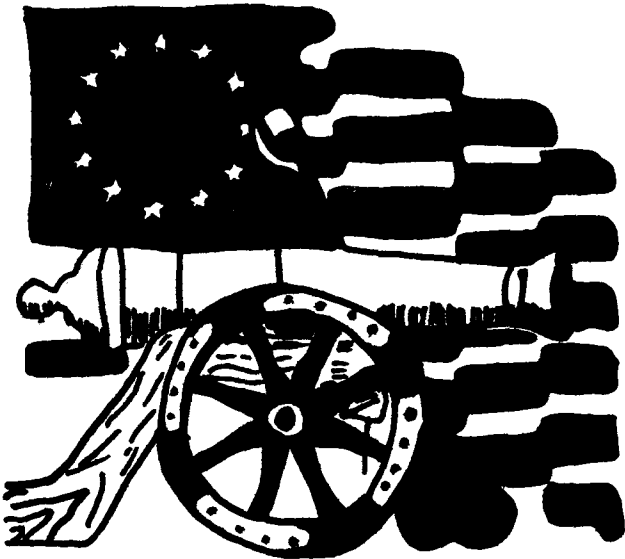

"I like the afternoon fellowships because of the things we do like horse-back riding."
Jennifer Doop

"One day I went barefooted in 15 inches of cow dung to guard the animals while the other kids spread the straw. I'm glad I had a pitchfork, one almost kicked me."
Kristin Weidenhamer

"I like feeding the animals and learning about them."
Julie Doop

"I like when we have grass fights."
Becky McDuffy

"I like breaktime."
Todd Weidenhamer
